

Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, SW
Abernathy
Room 8B201
Copps
Washington, D.C. 20554
Martin
(202) 418-1000 phone

Chairman Michael K. Powell
Commissioner Kathleen Q.

Commissioner Michael J.

Commissioner Kevin J.

Reference: FCC Docket Nos 96-45, 98-171, 90-571, 92-237, 99-200, 95-116, 98-170 and NSD File No. L-00-72.

Dear FCC:

I think that if you look at other phone services... that Tracfone is already expensive enough. Your highest buyers I can guarantee are the younger generation, like myself who can't yet get their own cell phone plan with other companies. People can barely afford the minutes now, and if you up them, I know many people including myself who will decide to just not have a cell phone anymore period. Tracfone prices have been high enough, but we could still deal. If you raise them, that is just absurd. There should be no reason for you to make more money off of this then what you already are. It's just not fair. I probably put $100.00 into my phone a month.. and that is all I am willing to do. So as far as you thinking you will be making more money, you will make less and lose customers who have valued your service for such a long time. I have been using my tracfone for 3 years. So please, don't raise prices. Listen to your customers!

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please provide a written response indicating the status/resolution of this matter.

Very truly yours,

Melissa L
269 DW Highway

CC: FCC Subcommittee Members